GOV. BECKHAM'S Eligibility For Re-election To Be Tested in the Courts.

Chairman Young Declines to Put His Name On Ballots.

The following was sent out from Frankfort on March 3d:

As the opponents of Gov. Beckham for the Democratic nomination for the Governorship, Judge Robert Breckinridge and the Hon. John A. Hendricks, have seen proper to make the question of the eligibility of the chief issue in the campaign now on, the Governor has determined to settle this issue early in the fight. Believing that this question should go directly to the proper tribunal, the courts of the State, instead of being argued before the public from the stump, and to the end that it may be settled finally before the State primary, he has arranged to bring an action in court to determine the question.

A MANDAMUS SUIT.

This action will be a mandamus proceeding against Chairman Allie W. Young, of the Democratic State Central and Executive Committees, and the members of the subcommittee of the State Executive Committee, which has the primary in charge. The petitioner will be J. C. W. Beckham, and he will ask that the defendants be required to place his name on the ballots to be used in the primary as a candidate for nomination for Governor.

To the end that such a proceeding may be instituted in the courts to settle the question of the eligibility of Gov. Beckham to re-election, a formal request has been made by him to Chairman Young and the members of the subcommittee that his name be placed on the ballot as a candidate for Governor. To this request Young has responded briefly, refusing to so place his name, because of the raising of the question of his eligibility by his two opponents. The correspondence is here given.

LETTER TO MR. YOUNG.

The Governor's letter to Chairman Young reads:

"Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 27, 1903.—Hon. A. W. Young, Judge J. M. Lassing, Col. Mott Ayres, Col. Percy Haley, Secretary Subcommittee of the State Democratic Executive Committee, Mt. Sterling, Ky.—Gentlemen: In accordance with your late call for a Democratic primary on May 9, 1903, to nominate candidates for the various State offices who are to be voted for at the next November election, I hereby notify you that I am a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor, subject to the action of said primary, I, therefore, request that my name be placed upon the ballots to be used in said primary, and as soon as you will inform me as to what part of the assessment for the expense of said primary I must pay, I will immediately send you the amount."

"I have the honor to be, very respectfully, J. C. W. Beckham."

THE CHAIRMAN'S RESPONSE.

"Mt. Sterling, Ky., Feb. 27, 1903.—Gov. J. C. W. Beckham, Frankfort, Ky.—Dear Sir: I acknowledge the receipt of your letter of February 27, addressed to me and to members of the Subcommittee of the State Executive Committee having in charge the conduct of the State primary of May 9 of this year. You notify this committee under the call for said primary that you are a candidate before the said primary for the nomination for Governor and request that your name be placed on the ballots to be used in said primary as such candidate. The committee is willing to comply with your request, but as the question has been raised publicly by two candidates for the same nomination that you are not eligible for re-election to the office of Governor, by reason of the fact that you now hold that office, it is our opinion, in order to put at rest any doubt about the matter, that necessary legal steps be taken to determine this question, and until that is done the committee must decline to place your name upon said ballots as a candidate for the nomination for Governor. Very respectfully, A. W. YOUNG.

"Chairman of the State Central and Executive Committee."

THE GOVERNOR'S ATTORNEYS.

The attorneys for Gov. Beckham to the suit to be brought are Judge W. S. Pryor of the local bar; Judge J. C. Beckham, of Shelbyville, and Judge John A. Fulton, of Bardstown. When the case reaches the Court of Appeals for final decision on its merits both Judge Beckinridge and Mr. Hendricks will be invited and requested to appear, either in person or by counsel, to present their side of the question, or, if they do not desire to be present, to file written briefs.

Gambling Raids With Worst Vices.

Judge Parker's charge to the grand jury at Lexington was characterized by the Judge's accustomed earnestness, when impressing upon the minds of the grand jurors the duties which devolved upon them as well as their responsibilities.

He spoke in general terms of the want of respect for the law and intimated that the people themselves were partly responsible for the condition by encouraging a false public sentiment. He expressed the opinion that if grand and petit juries did their duty a great many crimes which are now charged to Fayette county never would be committed and intimated that juries were partial when meeting out punishment to wrongdoers—the poor and friendless being punished when others with money and influence were allowed to escape.

There is no vice more destructive to young manhood than gambling. It stays the foundation of manly character and virtue. Lawlessness in this insidious shape has in the past seemed exempt from punishment. The law says it shall not be exempt, but shall be vigorously punished.

When the law is openly and constantly violated by one class and this is known to the people generally it lessens the respect of all other classes for the law itself and encourages others to become law-breakers.

Taking to Morgan County for Trial.

Sheriff S. M. Lykins and Deputy Sheriff J. H. Sebastian, of Morgan county passed through our city on Wednesday with George Lyon from Pontiac, Mich. Lyon was arrested at Pontiac by Sheriff Brewster, of that place, at the instance of Sheriff Lykins. He is guilty by his own confession, of killing Doc Ferguson, a constable of Morgan county, on the 27th of last June at Elk Fork, about seven miles from West Liberty. Immediately after the killing, Lyon made his escape and went to Detroit where he joined the regular army and served Uncle Sam as a soldier until mustered out on Jan. 14, having received an accidental injury to his leg. He had been located and at proper time was arrested.

REV. M'GARVEY Answers Mark Twain's Questions Concerning the Jews.

Rev. J. W. McGarvey preached at the Chestnut Street Christian church at Lexington, March 1. He answered Mark Twain's question in Harper's monthly some time ago: "Why are the Jews still with us?" a question which no man can answer except by aid of the Bible.

The writer has referred to the well known fact that every one of the ancient nations, which were contemporary with the Jews when they were an organized nation, had utterly perished, yet the Jews are yet with us. He might have added, that the Egyptians once held them in bondage, that the Assyrians and the Babylonians carried them captive and scattered them in other lands; that the Persians and Greeks ruled over them for centuries, and that the Romans finally devastated their country with fire and sword, slew a million of them, carried the rest away as slaves, destroyed their city and temple, and scattered them in dispersion in which they have now lived for two thousand years without a country. He might have made his question still more pertinent by adding, that twice in their early history decrees went forth from mighty kings, that every man, woman and child of Jewish blood in the whole earth should be put to death. The first of these was the well known decree of Ahasuerus instigated by Haman, that on a given day the whole race should be slaughtered; and all the race was then in his dominion. The second was between the close of the Old Testament history and the opening of the New, when Antiochus IV, whose dominion included them, vowed to exterminate them, and sent against them army after army thought sufficient to accomplish the task, every one of which was defeated by a handful of heroes under Judas Maccabeus. This was the most heroic war in defense of life and religious liberty of which history contains a record. Read it in Josephus or in the first book of Maccabees.

After all this, and after they have lived among all nations for the last two thousand years, despised, persecuted and robbed in every barbarous way, the question why they are yet with us acquires enormous emphasis. They are not only with us yet, but they are here in as great numbers as ever, with more gold at their command than Solomon ever dreamed of, owning great business blocks in all of the great commercial cities, buying and transporting all the fat cattle that our country ships to Europe, owning and editing most of the great newspapers in Europe, and many in America, holding the leading positions as lawyers and physicians in Europe, and sometimes rising like Lord Beaconsfield to the very highest places of political power. These amazing facts do not answer the question, "Why they are yet with us," but they show a demonstration that no power less than that of God himself can have preserved them.

If we turn to God's word our question is easily answered. When the progenitor of this race was a childless man of seventy-five with a barren wife, God called him away from his kindred into a strange land, and said to him, "I will make of thee a great nation, I will bless thee, and curse thee, and curse him that curseth thee, and in thy seed shall all the na-on the mountain tops in the land of their fathers, and look back over the long line of their history, undoubtedly the most grateful and the happiest people who shall then inherit the earth. They shall be the only distinct race of men whose ancestry can be traced by an unbroken line back to our father Adam. And if, in that distant period of time, there shall still be such races as Germans, French, British, or Americans, the question will be, not, Why are the Jews Yet with us, but, Why are we yet with the Jews?

Twelve-Year-Old Girl Is Divorced
From Her Husband.

Married and divorced inside of a year and not yet thirteen years of age, Mrs. Will Lena McIntyre left Jeffersonville for her home at Bethlehem, Ind., in a frame of mind bordering on uncertainty as to whether she was happy or not. In the Clark Circuit Court Judge Marsh set aside the marriage of William McIntyre and Will Lena Kelly, which was solemnized on April 3, 1902, by Justice J. E. English, of Washington township, the application being made by John Kelly, the wife's next friend, who is her adopted father. When Miss Kelly was married she was not twelve years old, while McIntyre was more than forty-five and the father of a daughter who was about to become a bride.

Accompanied by Chester Hebner, McIntyre called at the office of Circuit Clerk Carr, in Jeffersonville, to give his consent to the marriage of Lillie McIntyre to the young man who was with him. After the paper was issued McIntyre remarked that his cook was about to get married and leave him and that he guessed he had better prepare for securing another domestic, asking for a license to wed Will Lena Kelly. Having no thought that McIntyre was about to marry a child Clerk Carr unhesitatingly issued the license, and on this point there is no complaint or contention. Returning to Bethlehem a double wedding followed, the bride of one ceremony being the daughter of the groom in the other. Hebner and his bride went to their home, while McIntyre and his child wife took up their abode in the house owned by the father of Mrs. Hebner.

For a time the life of the girl was a happy one, but child like she began to tire of her surroundings and went back to the home of her adopted parents in a few weeks. Kelly then filed suit to have the marriage set aside on the ground that Mrs. McIntyre was not old enough to understand the responsibilities of assuming the matrimonial vows she had taken. In court the idea was gained that she did not any more understand the proceedings to become divorced than she did the ceremony that made her the wife of McIntyre, who offered no defense to the action, and who is satisfied to become separated on account of the objections interposed.

A Congressman for Fifty-one Years

With the close of the Fifty-seventh Congress a venerable and striking figure passes from the halls of the national Capital in the person of Galusha A. Crow, of Pennsylvania, who first became a member of the House of Representatives fifty one years ago. He entered Congress before he was thirty, and quickly became a leader. During the stirring times from 1861 to 1863 he presided over the House as Speaker. (Rom. 11:25, 26). After the general conversion to Christ of the Gentile world, the conversion of Israel shall follow. And when this shall take place the Jews shall stand on the walls of Jerusalem, and

The Republican so-called anti-trust law just passed by the Congress, and which gives to the new Department of Commerce and Labor the power to investigate and gather information about certain great corporations or trusts, and to report such data to the president, is a meaningless and harmless one so far as the trusts are concerned. Here is the law in a nutshell, and you can draw your own conclusions, as it is a combination of 'ifs':

If, the Secretary of this new department is so inclined he may fish for facts in regard to trusts; This trust business is Republicanism, and before the people decide between the two great parties we would have them decide the question am I for the existence of trusts or against them? for the people or against them?

PUT ON YOUR THINKER.

The presence of William Randolph Hearst in Washington City recently accompanied by former Governor Budd, of California, who has lobbied his boom for the Democratic nomination for the Presidency at the big Jefferson-Jackson-Lincoln barbecue in Columbus, Ohio, on the 12th of February, has started the Democratic talk again on Presidential possibilities.

A number of the leaders of the party here are beginning to take the Hearst boom seriously and are quoting what Governor Budd said when he launched the boom. In that connection it may be interesting to know the Governor's reasons for choosing Mr. Hearst as his candidate, and this is what he said:

"And we, Mr. Bryan, in the West, have as our champion the man that we believe has done most for the cause of the common people, the man who, in the fight when the treasures deserted you, came to your succor and stood an able lieutenant under your orders;

the man who has spent more money and done more in aiding the cause of the plain people in these United States than any other man; the man who fought all his life for a national eight-hour law, for an income tax, for national appropriations, for schools; the man who, in court and out of court has fought the trusts; who has risked his mighty labor in the interest of organized labor; who has flooded the United States with journals that daily speak to millions, the doctrines preached by Bryan and the fathers; the man who furnished the evidence that forced that the steel trust issues about fifteen hundred millions of securities.

Of this, some five hundred millions in bond represent what the property cost. These five hundred millions of bonds are carefully held by Mr. Carnegie, who has two hundred millions of them, or more, and by the other wise ones.

The thousand million dollars of other steel securities will soon be located in the pockets of the people. As rapidly as can be managed, the great trust men are selling their stock in small parcels to the citizens of the country.

In five years from now the stock of the steel trust, and of many other big trusts will be owned by forty or fifty millions of the country's inhabitants. The small citizen who has saved a few hundred dollars will have the money in steel, or sugar, or railroad, or telephone.

Then, when a trust is hurt and its stocks go down there will come a roar from the hundreds of thousands of small stockholders.

When the trusts shall have distributed their holding among the voting pockets of the nation, their squeezing of the public will mean a little more interest on their stocks. And this little more interest will make the individual stockholder forget that it represents extortion and an increase in the price of the necessities of life for all their fellow-citizens.

Among those who now own steel stock, even a very little, how many do you think are more interested in the rights of the people than in the price of their stock?

Each man who has a little money influences a certain number of other men, his sons, or poor relatives, or employees.

You all know that if a man today says or does anything that seems to threaten the savings bank he commits political suicide.

The average man who has ninety dollars in the savings bank thinks more of that ninety dollars than he does of the Declaration of Independence or the Old and New Testaments and eternal salvation all rolled into one.—New York Evening Journal.

These are facts. More, if some felts have an inheritance or prospective once they become just the same kind of fools. Labor and the capitalist are at odds and both are combines one of money power and the other aggregated individual power and each must have their limitations.

13 SALOONS.

It is time for fathers and mothers, yes, all people to pause in the business rush long enough for reflection. Thirteen saloons means an annual out lay of not far from $50,000 before there is a dime profit to the investor, think of it. How much strong drink must be sold and drank before this amount is realized. Say $100,000 is the minimum and we have it to a reason that near one-half of the voters of Montgomery county are drandrinkers and take three drinks per day. Appalling such were they facts, but we know half of Montgomery's men are not drandrinkers and if we take it less then we must conclude that the smaller number are drandrinkers and that the saloonists are subjecting themselves to a law punishment, and if one half are not drandrinkers and a less number are not drandrinkers then the saloonists must be resorting to other means that go with the drandrinking business, gambling. We may reason closer to home. Off of whom does this money come with which to support thirteen saloons. Reader, ask your own laborers, your own boys and see if you are not a contributor. Again for what does such business count, that you would give it in exchange for your sons and daughters, the men with whom you work at the mill. It is time to consider.

From Abroad.

KAISERIN MARIA THERESA
Thursday, Feb. 12, 1903.

DEAR JUDGE: Here is about the spot I had selected to write another letter—twelve hundred miles from the nearest land except the slimy soil three miles straight down under salt water. The deep blue sea is delightfully frolicsome today, convulsed with the wild grandeur and alluring beauty of foisted waves that snap and shout and roar, mysteriously vanish at instant, and leap up again with white airy crests and twisted forms. An hour ago one of them sloshed over the upper deck against fourteen ladies reclining on steamer chairs in dreamy luxury beneath wraps and rugs of various kinds. Sailors caught them as they rolled, and conveyed them to their staterooms to find dry clothing. They will begin to enjoy this salubrious episode by to-morrow, when I shall ask them to tell me all about it—and fourteen enthusiasts will speak at once.

If Marconi succeeds in thrusting his daily newspaper upon ocean voyagers, one of the salutary charms of ocean-life will vanish. Now for a whole week the whole world is shut out, as effectually as if one inhabited a distant planet. The blue dome of the sky fits close to the face of the sea in a perfect circle, the zenith comes close to the ship's lofty mast, the changeable voices and forms of the variegated billows spurt in sunlight and shadow, and over all, the sweet and solemn silence of the skies—all conspiring to invite forgetfulness of the world, and to lift the open heart up to the heavens that seem so near. The unwelcome land that in a few days will rise in the distant horizon will break the dreamy spell, and call me back to the din and dust and strife of earth. I love to sail on.

"I know not where His islands lie,
Their fronded palms in air,
I only know I cannot die."
Beyond His love and care.

This intense feeling of the presence of the Father who guards us against every evil, imparts a delicious flavor to all the pleasures and hardships of ocean life and puts the very music of heaven into the thunders of the wildest storm.

When I boarded the Kaiserin last Saturday to sail at eleven a.m., I found she had not enough coal to run twenty-five hours. The date owners posted notice that the date of sailing was postponed to nine o'clock Monday morning. Dr. Buckner and I were once called for grips and returned to our hotel to spend Sunday in the city. Promptly at nine o'clock Monday morning the gong was sounded and ropes cast off. Then the old ship swung out into the stream and was soon on her way to distant seas. There were farewell shouts, waving handkerchiefs and falling tears on pier and ship as we sailed away. Thoughtful friends had sent to Dr. Buckner and myself carnations from the winter gardens of Mt. Sterling, and numerous letters, all of which tended to give us enviable standing with the passengers. As eight or ten letters were counted out to us amid a solemn mob of letterless letter seekers, I sympathized deeply with their disappointment and humiliation, and would have gladly divided with them if this could have alleviated their grief. However, the delay in part enabled some of the passengers to go and buy flowers, and address packages to themselves to be delivered aboard the ship in the most conspicuous manner to show the tourists their high-standing and popularity at home.

The rolling of this little ship has exerted a very potent influence over the passengers. Many who were most in evidence everywhere, showing with sparkling wit and obtrusive wisdom have suddenly shrivelled into taciturn nothingness. Even when I assure them they are liable to live two or three days longer, and that fish never nibble with cold noses at a corpse in the sea, they do not recover their old animation and fascinating vivacity. Some of the most devout and cultured sisters can be heard through the night watches wailing out: "O lord, why was I ever such a fool, I don't want to see anything. If ever I get my feet on land I will stay there." A great man moaned out: "If ever I get my feet on terra firma I promise never to put them on the sea again—not even in a bath tub." A lady who affected learning and disdained to speak common English declared that if the Lord would put her feet once more on vice versa she would never tempt the patience of Providence on sea or river. Nevertheless, within four days this great hospital of humbled and repentant invalids will be transformed into a festive hall of jubilant and knowledgeable travelers eager to continue for thousands of gladsome miles the journey of the sea; from each side trip on land, returning to the ship as to a bright and happy home.

Medicea, quaint and fair, will see me before I resume my pencil.

No More Local Primaries Will Be Held in Kentucky.

The Democratic State Central Committee met here Saturday for the purpose of straightening out the wrangle between Judge M. C. Saufley and Mr. W. C. Bell over the Thirteenth district judgeship nomination. But that business had hardly been entered upon before the arrival of the hour for the departure of the west-bound C. & O. train, on which the members had to leave in order to reach their home for Sunday. So the question was not disposed of, and an adjourned meeting will be held in Louisville at call of chair.

The most important action of the State Committee, however, was to unanimously adopt the following resolution declaring it to be the sense of the committee that no more local primaries or conventions should be held prior to the date of the State primary of May 9:

Whereas, The subcommittee appointed by the Democratic Executive Committee on February 9, 1903, adopted a rule prohibiting the calling of any primary or convention for the purpose of nominating candidates for local office prior to May 9, and,

Whereas, Since said resolution was passed on February 9, certain primaries and conventions have been called, it is, therefore,

Resolved, That it is the sense of this committee that said primaries and conventions be set by said local committee on a day on or after the date fixed by said primary, to-wit, May 9. The chairman of the committee is directed to furnish to the chairman of each local committee where such primaries or conventions have been called a copy of this resolution. This committee is empowered to take all necessary steps and to do all things necessary to have said primaries or conventions declared off.

The rule adopted by the subcommittee of the Democratic State Executive Committee on February 9 was never before made public, and came as a surprise to all the members of the State Committee. They felt that they should acquiesce in the decision of the subcommittee in charge of the State primary, and when the roll was called all voted for it except Messrs. Whittemore and Griffith, of the First and Second districts, who were recorded against it, but who changed their votes before the result was announced, thus making unanimous the adoption of the resolution.

All the members were present except Judge S. E. Jones, from the State at-large. The meeting was held in the Court-house and the public was admitted.

There was no argument over the resolution. This action makes it necessary for changes to be made by the local committees in Jefferson, Logan or other counties where local primaries and conventions have been ordered, since February 9, to be held prior to May 9.

THE DANVILLE MUDDLE.

The Danville case was then called, Judge Saufley opening in a speech of a half hour. Judge Saufley was represented by C. C. Fox, of Danville, and W. G. Welch, of Stanford. Mr. Bell was represented by E. H. Gaither and W. W. Stephenson, of Harrodsburg. Mr. Gaither spoke for Mr. Bell, each side contending that it represented the "regular" convention. A motion to adjourn to meet in Louisville subject to the call of the chairman was made by Mr. Garnett and was carried.

The Luxury of Living

You will never know until you have an abundant supply of water in your home. When you consider that we do the pumping all the year 'round, and that your water supply is always under pressure, there is in all your living expenses as the water supply from our mains. You may have water for sprinkling the street and lawn, a faucet in the kitchen, another in your stable and the charge is for 30,000 gallons. With the bath-room connected the cost is $16.00 and the allowance 40,000 gallons. The first cost of installing the water is about the same as building a new cistern. Come in and talk about it anyhow, or see your plumber Introduced 17,500 Bills and Pass ed 2,000.

The number of bills introduced during the Fifty-seventh Congress aggregated 17,500 of which 3,918 were reported and more than 2,000 passed. The House calendar is clearer at the close of this Congress than it ever has been before, only seventy-eight bills remaining undisposed of. In the Fifty-seventh Congress 2,214 bills were reported and 1,473 passed; in the Fifty-sixth, 2,787 were reported and 2,204 passed. The nearest approach to the number of bills introduced in the Fifty-seventh was in the Fifty-sixth Congress, when 14,339 were brought in and the greatest number reported was in the Forty-ninth Congress, the aggregate being 4,151.

The number of private bills passed by this Congress have been exceedingly large.

Farmer vs. Lawyer Statesmen.

In a little tilt in the Senate between Senators McComas and Tillman, McComas said:

"I am perfectly willing to admit that the Senator from South Carolina is a better lawyer than I, and that I am a better farmer than the Senator."

"You had better claim that; not admit it," answered Tillman.

Thus showing the pitchfork statesmen's comparative opinion of the two "professions."—Baltimore Herald.

The Cuban reciprocity treaty may be considered before the canal treaty by the Senate in extra session. Several other treaties beside the two important ones will also be disposed of.

Thorough organization, not reorganization, is what the Democratic party needs.

Bryan Influence Still Dominant, Says Gen. Buckner.

Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner, candidate for Vice President in 1860, is of the opinion that the influence of Mr. Bryan is still dominant in the national organization of the Democratic party.

"No man who is not acceptable to Mr. Bryan can be nominated," he said last night, "and as yet no one has been suggested who meets with his approval. And, indeed, I do not believe that anyone can do so except himself."

"Mr. Parker appears to have more friends now than any other possibility who has been mentioned, or rather he has fewer enemies. But it is to be doubted if Mr. Bryan would approve his nomination, and it must be recognized that the Bryan influence, even if not dominant, is yet powerful enough to be formidable and he could lead a bolt which would mean the wreck of every hope of party success.

"I am sure that I am not prophet enough to forecast the conditions, and I am unable to say who I think has the best chance for the Democratic nomination."

"Uncle Joe's" Finish.

In his speeches on the floor of the House "Uncle Joe" Cannon is not governed by any rule of metaphor, and does not hesitate to mix his similes if by doing so he can make a point.

Recently he was arguing against the proposition to allow the Pennsylvania and Baltimore Ohio railroads $1,500,000 each for the construction of a union station.

"The railroads have been before the Senate on their knees praying and praying and praying," said Uncle Joe, in his preacher-like tones, and then, stopping a moment, and looking about the House, concluded to finish with an expression that might better appeal to the understanding of many members, and added: "And, gentlemen, let us call their hand!"—Philadelphia Press.

Henderson's Scotch Story.

Speaker Henderson is a born Scotchman, and he tells Scotch stories better than anybody else in Congress. In his room recently he told the tale of the Blairgowrie man who married the woman from Kirkcaldy. Years later, when the wife was dying, she said to her husband:

"John, I've been a guid wife to ye! I want to ask ye ain't particular favor."

"Weel, o'man, what is it?"

"Weel, John, it's jist this—that'll bury me among my ain folk at Kirkcaldy."

"Hoot, o'man, it canna be; I tel ye it canna be."

"Weel, John, if ye dinna tak' me to Kirkcaldy I'll haun' ye; me speerit will haun' ye."

"Aweel, if it comes to that, o'man, I'll ha'e to do it; but I'll try ye in Blairgowrie first."—New York World.

New Bank.

Whitesburg is to have a new $10,000 bank building. Within a few years Eastern Ky. will have enough banks to supply local demands, for that section of the State will be a great mining and manufacturing center.

A Democratic platform cannot be framed by men who think more of personal profit than they do of principle.

Speaker Henderson's Stirring Valedictory.

Gentlemen of the House of Representatives: An age spent under this dome must give opportunity for forming many and strong ties. Constituted as I have been from childhood, friendship is an essential element of my life's food (applause), and whether on the floor or in the chair I have found a bountiful supply in this hall (applause). I have seen beautiful and instructive things on this floor—sharp, able, feeling debate, and debate, gentlemen, is the foundation and sustaining power of American liberty (applause), but I have seen another beautiful thing. When the flag was raised in war I have seen both sides of this chamber, as one man, put $50,000,000 into the hands of the Chief Magistrate and said "Lead on, without a dissenting voice. (Applause)

I say that from that hour I have believed that there was no future moment when disintegration would come to this republic. (Applause.) And when I saw the young men from every State in the Union touching elbow to elbow and rushing into the ranks of war, there was absolute confirmation of that belief. (Applause)

I am going to give counsel to this body further than to say that there is nothing more precious than this Government for us to fight for. Preserve that if you love your life. It is more valuable than anything that can be named. Go on with the rough and tumble battles of legislation, but keep your eye on that flag which God asks us to die for. (Applause.)

When I took this chair I asked the support of this House to aid me in performing the duties of this high office which you conferred upon me. That gavel in my hand has never been defiled by either side of this chamber. It is a pleasure to say that. It always has secured obedience, recognition when order was demanded. Knowing how excited we are at times, that is a pleasant recollection to me.

Prosperity Had Struck the Buck-Busters.

A war between the Armour Packing Company and the Ohio Valley Produce Company for the purchase of chickens, turkeys and eggs has been inaugurated in West Kentucky. The Ohio Valley Produce Company has over 100 agencies. Its principal branches are at Princeton and Mayfield, and it has been spending about $75,000 a year in Graves county alone. Latey the Armour company decided to locate opposition agencies at many points and buy over the Ohio valley people. Each concern is seeking to outbid the other, and as a result the hucksters and farmers are prospering.

The purchase will be required to give bond, with approved security, for the payment of the purchase money, to have the force and effect of a state of law, according to law. Bidders will be retained on the land sold till all the purchase money is paid. Bond payable to the undersigned Commissioners.

Your great men shine before the populace in vain—with the newspaper. He spread eagles the constitution in vain—with the newspaper.

His clarion voice wakes up the universe in vain—without the newspaper. His scientific researches and achievements are vain—without the newspaper.

HOW DOLLS ARE MADE.

Interesting Process by Which Millions Are Turned Out Every Year.

Of whatever material the doll is made—wax, porcelain or composition—the processes by which its beauty is evolved are practically the same, says the Woman's Home Companion. First, the head. In France and other European countries machinery is little used. The hot liquid is ladled into the lead or plaster molds. Over here the workman, holding the mold in one hand, turns a faucet, and allows the steaming white mixture to rush into the cavity. Quickly reversing the mold over an opening in the tank, he grasps and fills another, and another, reversing each one to allow all the mixture which does not immediately adhere to the sides of the mold to run back into the tank.

Another workman seizes the mold as soon as it is cool enough to handle, and with two movements of his hands separates the leaden sides and pulls out the doll's head. Then comes the waxing. This is because the wax itself is white. Some of us found that out for ourselves when we surreptitiously sampled the cheeks of sister's idol in lieu of forbidden chewing-gum, not dreaming that the streaks would show.

A girl or youth next paints the eyebrows, lips and cheeks, and a man puts in the eyes. This last is a simple operation, unless the eyes are to be open and shut, when the balancing of the lead becomes a matter of some skill. Nothing now remains but to put on the beautiful waxen wig, which is tastefully curled and arranged by an expert workman. No mere clod is intrusted with the doll's coiffure, you may assure yourself.

The best doll-bodies are stuffed with shavings of cork; hair, excelsior, cotton and sawdust are also used. The arms and legs are molded exactly as the heads, and are sewed to their places by deft-fingered girls.

The great majority of dolls are sent to market without being clothed at all, but doll-dress making is a very important branch of toy manufacture.

Queer Method of Catching Trout.

The mountaineers of Georgia catch trout with a sledge-hammer. Their practice is to thump a rock, under which a trout seeks refuge, with a hammer, and the concussion renders the fish senseless.

The Truth About Lung Troubles

Chapter I. Severe climate. (Therapy has been known to drop 50 degrees in 50 minutes.) Sun hot, wind cold.

Chapter II. A hard cold. A touch of the grip. Don't seek to get well.

Chapter III. Hacking cough. (Guess it will wear off when warm weather comes.)

Chapter IV. Doctor says let lung is affected.

Everybody knows the last chapter.

Isn't it pitiful? The more so since common cough-cures don't cure a hacking cough. They only temporarily dry it up and upset the stomach. The cause is still there.

We believe we can help nine cases out of ten of this kind—that is about our average of relief and cure so far.

We do it with Vinol, which is made from the best remedy for lung troubles the world has ever seen—cod liver oil, but with the fish-smelling grease left out.

The results are gained by im-

Pettus in a New Suit.

Thursday Senator Pettus, who is eighty-two years old, and who always wears a long black broad-cloth frock coat of antebellum cut and a pair of baggy trousers, appeared in a jaunty new suit.

The Senate was astounded. Senator Pettus failed to see why there was any consternation, and rebuked Senator Dewey severely for intimating he was becoming a dudie.

"Fact in," said Senator Pettus, "I have just been re-elected, and I consider it my privilege to get a new suit of clothes. I'll get another when I am re-elected again in 1909."

Elephant Larger Than Jumbo.

According to the Daily Mail, Mr. Bostock has bought the London Zoo's biggest elephant, Jingo, and will transport the animal to the United States immediately. Jingo was a baby when the elephant Jumbo was shipped to the United States. He is now 22 inches taller than Jumbo and is still growing.

The price paid is not known, but it is said to have been four figures in pounds.

Damage Suit.

Judgment in the Clark Circuit Court in the damage case of the C. & O. Railway Company against Gordon Wilder was affirmed by the court, Judge Hobson writing. The appellee secured judgment in the court below for $1,000 for injuries sustained while in its employ.

The time to organize is right now. To wait until a few days before election day is political folly.

Total of $1,554,108,501 Was Appropriated.

The appropriations made during the session of Congress aggregated $758,454,018 as against $800,624,496 for the last session. The total for the entire Congress thus footed up, $1,554,108,514, or something more than a hundred millions in excess of the total appropriations for the Fifty-sixth Congress. The total for that Congress being $1,440,489,488.

These figures were embodied in a statement presented to the Senate by Mr. Allison, chairman of the Committee on Appropriations. The statement also contained an itemized statement showing the expenditures for the past session by bills as follows: Agriculture, $987,160; army, $78,129,752; diplomatic and consular, $1,068,350; District of Columbia, $8,647,497; fortifications, $7,188,416; Indian, $8,512,950; legislative, executive and judiciary, $27,595,953; Military Academy, $655,248; Navy, $1,877,291; Pensions, $139,847,600 post-office, $158,401,549; sundry civil, $82,272,955; deficiencies, $21,561,672; permanent annual appropriations, $132,589,820; miscellaneous, $3,250,000.

Adjourned.

The Fifty-seventh Congress adjourned at noon Wednesday. The customary demonstration in honor of the retiring Speaker was given trimmings of frost by Democratic members, who refused to join in the applause when the resolutions of thanks to Mr. Henderson were read. President Roosevelt sent a sarcastic message to the Senate, commanding it for admirable performance of duty during the session.

The Treatment of Criminals.

A recent issue of the Philadelphia Enquirer contained an editorial giving intelligent consideration to the treatment of criminals after they have satisfied the requirements of the law. It speaks of the difficulty which the ex-convict has in finding employment, and says: "What is the fault of this man? This sums up the situation, and it is sad to see that there is little progress made towards solving it. No business man wants to employ an ex-convict; if he is a professional man no one cares for his services. There seems almost no avenue of employment for him. What can he do?"

This sums up the situation, and it deserves serious consideration. How would it do to try a system of probation, say a year or two, during which the ex-convict would have a chance to prove his worthiness? That it, after his term has expired let him have the privilege of working voluntarily under the direction of the state at the same occupation which he followed in the penitentiary, he to come and go at his pleasure as long as he departs himself properly.

Society feels an interest in restoring the ex-convict to his place in the industrial community, but no one is willing to risk employing him until his reformation is proven. If, after his release, he shows by his conduct that he desires to work and establish himself in the esteem of his fellows he will have no difficulty in finding employment. The parole is being used with increasing frequency where someone is willing to become responsible for the good conduct of the convict, and the probationary period would provide for those without friends to stand sponsor for them. The reclamation of those who have fallen before the temptation and yet desire to be reinstated in the confidence of the public is certainly to be desired.

The petition protesting against Gov. Peabody's action in sending militia to quell the strikers in Colorado Springs, Colo., has been signed by 600 citizens, including the Mayor and the city officials.

PLAIN PROOF

What This Gentleman Says

Is a Mere Statement of Facts.

No one can have any reason for dissenting from the particulars and proofs which follow, for verification of the same is within easy reach of every resident of this vicinity. That Doan's Kidney Pills promptly and effectually cure kidney complaints is substantiated not only in this particular case, but by all who have given them a fair trial. Testimony likewise shows that you do not have to take them indefinitely to be cured.

Walter McLachlin, a machine hand, employed at J. Holliday and Sons planing mill, Wheeling, W. Va., address 3032 Jacob street, says: "Had I not used Doan's Kidney Pills when I did I would not be alive now. I was in a terrible condition, and although I took quarts of medicine I got no better but worse. Friends spoke of my bad appearance and thousands knew about it. I could hardly get around, and felt and looked like a dead man more than a living one. Doan Kidney Pills were a blessing to me, half a box relieved me, three boxes entirely cured me and now I feel as though my back was as strong as that of any horse in Wheeling. I would rather have a box of Doan's Kidney Pills than the services of all the doctors in the State."

For Kentucky.

A warrant for $1,323,993.55, payable to the State of Kentucky, was made out by the Treasury Department Thursday. The sum represents the Commonwealth's war claim carried in the General Deficiency Bill signed Wednesday by the President. Two propositions for the use to which the money should be put are under consideration. One is for the payment of the State debt, the other for the erection of a State capitol.

Refuted.

Candidate John Hendricks reminds us of the man who set his mouth going and went off and left ill. A weak argument is worse than none at all—as is also an unsupported statement. He is against everything and for nothing in particular. He charges A. W. Young, Chairman State Central Committee, of being disloyal to Democratic county nominee, A. B. White. Mr. Young denies and Mr. White corroborates him. An election officer, Mr. Jas. O'Connell goes one better and says that Mr. Young was not even at the poll that day. That was with his brother looking after his race in another country. Such a statement of Mr. Hendricks does handle, serves to injure only himself and his following.

Judge Oscar Speaks.

Judge Ed. C. Oscar, of the Court of Appeals, was here one day last week and to our question, Are you a candidate for Governor? said, "I am not, and further, I will not be." Are you sure? "As certain as I am of anything of this earth."

The judge is in love with his position and proposes to serve out the term to which they people have elected him and then he may be a candidate along lines of promotion, but for no position there is not a chance to win.

Warmer.

For months the Choctaw Indian descendants have been flocking to Maccoge, Indiana Territory, to know of their possessions. A large number have gone from Kentucky among whom are the Cheathams, of this place. The proof is about all in and the descendants are sure that the case is won. To each bear the magnificent inheritance is $10,000 in money and 320 acres of land and each descendant is counted a pure Choctaw, for instance, James E. Thompson has a wife and seven children, and their part would be $80,000 in money and 2,560 acres of land.

Eligible.

The case of Gov. Beckham's eligibility to succeed himself came before Judge Cantrell's court at Versailles last week and was decided as formerly outlined by the Advocate. That the constitution contemplates a fall term and that because Gov. Beckham had not served a full term he was an eligible candidate. The case goes before the Court of Appeals.

21 Years Old in Business.

James H. Wood had served the Adams Express Company 21 years on last Tuesday. A faithful servant to the company and as obliging to the public as the rules and regulations of the office would permit. We do not know a man in any public business who has been more acceptable alike to the company and patrons of the office.

JOSH T. GRIFFITH, OF OWENSBORO, KY.

This cut is a true likeness of Josh T. Griffith, of Owensboro, Ky. He is 40 years old, was elected County Clerk when 24 years old and has held the office continuously ever since. Josh is a reliable business man, good company, full of sympathy and ever ready to help the needy. He is aggressive, full of energy, a Democrat, not because he had a friend that was, because that his father was or for emoluments sake, but because he believes the doctrines taught by the Democratic party if properly administered would bring about the greatest good to the greatest number. This is Josh Griffith, and as Josh is good, handsome and strong, so is his family interesting. He wants to be Treasurer for Kentucky and asks the people of Montgomery county to give him their votes. He wears horns, having been enrolled as one of the B. P. O. E. order.

Heavy Rain.

Very heavy rains fell on Saturday afternoon at different hours, accompanied by heavy winds. The overflow at the electric light plant cut off the lights until about 9 o'clock. The engagement at the opera house was cancelled.

Wind did considerable damage, blowing down fencing, tearing up and breaking trees, partially unroofing one side of the roof over one wing of T. D. Jones' residence. The upper room was so damaged as will probably require replastering. Some fencing was blown down at J. C. Woodward's and a place about 3 feet square torn from the slate roof of his residence.

Excess

Of Smoking Affected My Heart

So I Had To Sit Up To Breathe.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Cured Me.

There is nothing that has a more deleterious effect upon the cardiac or heart nerves than smoking. It creates a constant tenderness around the heart, an oppressive feeling in the chest, choking sensation in the throat, and a general debility. One has to sit up in bed to breathe and cannot sleep. Smokers who feel these symptoms and who do not know what is the cause should be warned in time, by the following experience:

"I was greatly troubled with an affection of the heart, and I think to excess smoking. As writing to you, I was compelled to begin a course of treatment which included a diet of light fare, coffee, tea, and smothering spells at night when Walz as a butcher shop.

The Commerce-Labor Bluff

The action of the Republican Congress in refusing to give to the new Secretary of Commerce and Labor the amounts asked for in his estimate of what it would cost to run his department. It is simply indicative of what we may expect from that department when it engages in the past time of trust-busting. It has already been analyzed what the provisions for publicity in that department amount to under the most favorable conditions, and now that the Republicans have refused to allow the new Secretary anything with which to run his department, it means that nothing will be done at all. Mr. Cortelyou asked for about a million and a quarter of dollars to run his department, and Congress has given him about $300,000. This means that they are going to bust, and investigate trusts on the installment plan only. It means that they passed the law as a bluff, as it has been said they done, and they intend to do nothing and allow the law under which the new department operates to become a dead letter. How long, O Lord, how long, will the people be fooled?

Ball Fixed at $5,000.

The examining trial of James Freeman was held by Esq. C. G. Thompson on Thursday afternoon. The strongest testimony in favor of defendant was his own, which was in substance that Willoughby made the attack and in attempting to get his pistol was grabbed and shot by defendant shoot four times at Willoughby who was going down the street pursued by defendant.

Esq. Thompson said that the testimony of Freeman and Willoughby were so contradictory that he would grant defendant bail in the sum of $5,000. Unable to give bond Freeman was lodged in jail.

Residence Burned.

DEATHS.

KENNEDY.—Esq. C. H. Kennedy died at his home at Farmerson Sunday.

THOMPSON.—R. L. Thompson, of Sharpsburg, died at his home on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock and was buried Monday in Crown Hill Cemetery.

ROGERS.—Mrs. Joseph Rogers, mother of Prof. Abner Rogers, of this city, died at her home near Versailles of pneumonia, Thursday morning March 5. Mrs. Rogers was born in Madison county in 1822 and was in her 81st year. Her husband died five years ago. She leaves four children, Abner O., Charles, John O. and Virginia. The three latter living in Versailles.

Mrs. Rogers has been since early womanhood a member of the Baptist Church. Funeral service was conducted at the home by Rev. Frank Williams, pastor of the Baptist Church, and her body laid to rest in the cemetery at Lexington, Friday morning. Mrs. Rogers was a member of the Oldham family of Madison county her grandfather, Col. John Oldham, a Revolutionary soldier, having been one of the early settlers in Kentucky.

RAGLAND.—Thos. C. Ragland, of Bath county, died at the home of Wesley Alfrey on March 2, 1903, of fever. His anticipated recovery suddenly yielded to the enemy death. The weekly Messenger says of him: Thos. C. Ragland, in recent years called "Uncle Tom," was the best known and most prominent figure in the eastern part of Bath county, where he had spent all of his life, and to die without a single enemy in his home county.

He married Louise Ann Boyd about fifty years ago, and though no children were born to them, their married life was one half-century of sunshine, both of them proudly boasting that no harsh or cruel words had ever been addressed by one to the other. Aside from his good deeds, his name will be perpetuated in the now famous Ragland Oil fields, for on his land the first oil was discovered in Bath county. He was buried at Salt Lick on Tuesday, March 3.

WYATT.—John S. Wyatt, Sr., died at his late home at Camargo, March 3rd, from paralysis, in his 77th year. He was the second son of Hayden Wyatt, who was one of the early settlers of this country. Feb. 20, 1855, he was married to Bettie Oscar, who with six children, L. B. Wyatt, of New Decatur, Ala., John S. Jr., A. F. C. T., W. H. Wyatt and Mrs. Georgia Quisenberry, of this county, survived him. He was a brother of A. J. Wyatt, of Madison Ind., Luther Wyatt, of San Antonio, Texas, B. F. and J. D. Wyatt and Mrs. Julia Ratliff, of this city. From 1856 to 1864 he was sheriff of the county, was correct in all his dealings and met with favor with the people. He was one of the active farmers of the county and a breeder of fine horses. In every walk in life he showed himself the real man, walking uprightly before men. For more than forty years he had been a member of the Chapel M. E. Church and as he was active in other life callings so he was faithful to his church and often after the death finger had touched him did he speak of his preparation for death and that he was ready for the end. His life went out lighting up a beautiful beyond. At his late home his funeral was conducted by his pastor, Rev. R. M. Lee, assisted by Rev. Julius E. Wright, and the burial took place in Machpelah cemetery. Peace to his ashes.

RELIGIOUS.

Rev. — Moss from the College at Winchester preached at the Methodist Church on Sunday morning.

Rev. Geo. A. Joplin, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, has gone to Pikeville to hold a ten days meeting.

Rev. N. H. Brooks, recently engaged as pastor of Somerset church, has resigned to accept a call at Pendleton, Oregon, and leaves this week for that place.

Of the 26 elders and deacons of the Christian Church there was only 1 present at the Sunday evening service. Old age, sickness, absence from home and other hindrances interfered.

The building of the First Presbyterian Church is in the hands of the painters and paper-hangers and there will be no services for the next two weeks. The Sunday School will be held with the Southern Presbyterian Church.

The building of the First Presbyterian Church is in the hands of the painters and paper-hangers and there will be no services for the next two weeks. The Sunday School will be held with the Southern Presbyterian Church.

The pastor, Rev. W. J. Bolin, will occupy the pulpit at the Baptist church Sunday morning and evening. Evening subject, "The Church and the Saloon." All churches are invited to attend, and especially city officials, saloonists, and the public generally.

Owing to the land interests of Rev. Julius E. Wright in Oklahoma which demanded his immediate attention, it became necessary that he turn the church here over to another under shepherd, and on last Wednesday evening pursuant to this necessary end, tendered his resignation and the matter of appointing a supply became a duty of the presiding elder. It is the opinion that the services of Dr. Weber, President of Wesleyan College, may be secured until the meeting of Conference. Mr. Wright had made many friends during his short stay, is a fine preacher with a most excellent wife, and the necessity of his going is a source of regret. A supply is expected for Sunday morning and evening.

GALLANT SOLDIER

Fights His Last, Losing Battle.
Ed Porter Thompson Dead.

After a long and patient struggle, combatting wounds received nearly forty years ago as a gallant soldier of the Confederacy, Capt. Ed. Porter Thompson, soldier, historian and faithful public official, died at 11 o'clock Wednesday night at his home in Frankfort. He had been ill for about two weeks, confined to his home, and his death came just as the members of his family gathered about him were confident that he was improving. The immediate cause of his death was a grippe, which settled on his lungs.

Capt. Thompson was widely known over Kentucky. He was born near Center, McCreary county, Ky., May 6, 1844. His father, Lewis M. Thompson, was a Virginian. He was reared on a farm, but after he was nineteen years of age engaged in teaching school until 1860, when he studied law. Before he obtained his license the war between the States broke out.

HIS WAR RECORD.

His sympathies were with the South and he entered the Confederate army in the Sixth Kentucky regiment, the famous Orphan Brigade. In March, 1862, he became first sergeant of Company F, and with that company participated in the engagement at Shiloh, where he was wounded. In May following, he was elected First Lieutenant of Company E. He fought at Vicksburg, and Stone River, at which latter place he was severely wounded and fell into the hands of the enemy. He was one of thirty-six officers who cast lots at City Point, Va., in 1863 for the chance of being returned to Fort DelaMare prison and shot in retaliation. It was one of eighteen who drew fortunate tickets and were exchanged. Though disabled for service, he voluntarily rejoined the regiment in November, 1863, and was made Captain in the Quartermaster's department. He served in that capacity during the remainder of the war. In his report of the part taken in the battle of Stone River by the Sixth regiment, Gen. Joseph H. Lewis said of him:

"Of those wounded several were left on the field and at Murfreesboro, and of the missing I fear all are either prisoners or killed. The last seen of Lieut. Ed. Porter Thompson was with pistol firing on the advancing enemy. It is due to him to say that detailed as commissary he was not required to go into action, but he discharged his duties as an officer on the field, sharing the hardships and dangers throughout."

WELL KNOWN AS A WRITER.

After the close of the war he engaged for a time in farming, teaching and writing. He edited a magazine in Louisville, Ky., and was the author of several school books. He is best known as a writer, however, through his history of the Orphan Brigade.

He was frequently honored in a political way by the Democracy of his native State. In October, 1888, he was appointed by Gov. Buckner to fill a vacancy in the office of state auditor.

In March, 1890, he was made private secretary to Gov. Buckner, which place he filled during the remainder of Gov. Buckner's administration. In August, 1891, he was elected Superintendent of Public Instruction of Kentucky, which responsible position he filled for four years and four months, discharging the duties of the office with marked ability and to general satisfaction.

After his term expired he was elected by the Appellate Court Judges as custodian of public buildings at Frankfort. This position he held until recently when he was selected by Gov. Beckham and Adj't. Gen. Murray to compile the Confederate war records of Kentucky, which was provided for at the last General Assembly.

Capt. Thompson was married April 22, 1858, to Miss Marcella E. Thompson. She and a son, the Rev. Lewis N. Thompson, and a daughter, Miss Katie Thompson, and a brother, an extensive publisher of St. Louis, Mo., survive him.

Radium, the Scientific Sensation.

The cheerful news comes from London that the price of radium has been reduced from $1,000,000 to $900,000 a pound. This will be a great relief to the thousands of poor who have been cut off from using this remarkable metal owing to the former high price. It is evident, however, that there will soon be a scarcity, as there are only two pounds in the world, so that those who are in need of it should come early and avoid the rush. No home, we should say, would be complete without at least half a pound of the article.

Seriously speaking, the scientific world is just now agast over the discovery of the properties of radium, the rarity of which can be judged by its price. To produce two pounds of it requires the reduction of 5,000 tons of uranium, itself an expensive metal. Its chief characteristic is its radial quality—that is, its power to give off an enormous amount of light, almost equal to that of the sun proportionately, and that, too, without much heat. It is a fine white powder that glows in the dark like phosphorus, and so far as known loses none of its properties as time passes on. Its rays are so strong that the celebrated X-rays which astonished a few years ago seem like a plaything. It is claimed that photographs have been taken by rays which have passed from radium through three feet of solid steel. This seems impossible, but, not more so than that the Roentgen rays should go through wood or cloth.

Just what place it is to will take in the world is as yet uncertain. It is claimed by its discoverer that the light it emits is so strong that to enter a room where a pound of it is exposed would blind a person; even a pinch of it carefully wrapped in a paper and carried in the pocket blisters the skin instantly. There is only a wee bit of the metal in this country, and it was imported with considerable difficulty, owing to its strange qualities. It is hoped by scientist that it will be possible to use it in medicine for the purpose of killing germs which cannot be reached in any other way. Finsen, the Danish physician, has recently effected complete cures of lupus, one of the most loathsome and hitherto fatal diseases, by means of modified electric light, but no electric light compares in power with the rays of radium.

The bubonic plague has broken out at another Mexican town, Villa Union, near Mazatlan, reporting two deaths. The people resisted the burning of infected houses and attacked the sanitary officers. Troops were sent to quell the disorder.

THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT FOR CONSTIPATION

Constipation is nothing more than the clogging of the bowels and nothing less than a state of stagnation or death if not relieved. If you are constipated suffer no longer. This draught is a powerful laxative and is allowing no poison to fit to remain in the system, he would soon get relief. Constipation invites all kind of constipation. Hardening of the intestines, colds and many other ailments disappear when constipation ceases. The Thedford's Black-Draught thoroughly cleans the bowels in an easy and natural manner without the punishment of purgative or other violent cathartics.

Be sure that you get the original Thedford's Black-Draught, made by The Chattanooga Medicine Co. Sold by all druggists in 25 cent and $1.00 packages.

I cannot recommend Thedford's Black-Draught too highly. I keep it in my house and have used it for many years. I never gave my children any other medicine for constipation. They have never been able to work without it. I have used it for myself for constipation. Your medicine is all that keeps me well.
